Forecast For London & Southeast England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Thursday 01 Jul 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Patchy mist and fog tonight. Scattered showers on Friday.

This Evening and Tonight:
Dry and largely sunny this evening, occasionally hazy, followed by clear spells later. Areas of low cloud may develop in Hampshire later. Remaining largely clear elsewhere, but with mist and fog in places. Minimum temperature 12 deg C (54 deg F).

Friday:
Any early mist and fog will dissipate quickly, followed by sunny spells for most. Feeling warm and humid. Some scattered showers may develop across London and east in the afternoon. Maximum temperature 25 deg C (77 deg F).

Outlook for Saturday to Monday:
Often warm by day, with bright or sunny spells but unsettled with showers, these widespread and locally heavy. Feeling humid. Largely dry on Monday but some prolonged rain later.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.